Invention Name: [REDACTED]

April 30, 2006

This letter is to request all money rendered to your company, which, is over $5000, but, you can subtract the $90.00 that you previously sent. We pulled out of dealing with your services, due to the fact that we feel this is a scam all the way around. You filed a provisional on our behalf, but along with what we had to find out for ourselves, the procedures that you follow are in consistency with being underhanded, rude and does not put you in the category of “Re-Inventing the Invention Industry! Invention Home’s mission of building trust and integrity in a battered industry”

Not only did we have to find out that when you file a provisional you have 12 months to file a non provisional (and we were paying you to inform us of such things) but you never told us this information and that’s how we came to the conclusion that your goals were set for us to lose our patent protection rights because you never informed us that if you don’t file a non provisional within that 12 months, they will file an abandonment against your project. This is how you prosper because then you plagiarize and play it off as if it was a project that you came up with all along. That’s the set up. When we requested our documents back from you, we realized then that you were up to no good when you sent us back an altered document which leads us to believe that you would have taken our signatures and lifted them to put them on a contract or something. You sent us back an altered document and we have the originals.

We have talked to several attorneys about this situation and were advised to request our money back. We have also consulted with several attorneys regarding this project and they have done thorough searches and they have informed us that there is nothing even remotely close to what we have. So if you remember correctly you had our project sitting in the back of some drawer for 4 whole months before you even started trying to give our project some attention and when we realized that we had to promote and market ourselves, that’s when we decided to back out of dealing with your company, we thought if we had to do this ourselves and if you didn’t care enough in the first place to leave the project in a drawer for 4 whole months, then why should we stay with you? So we left. We just wanted to see how you would treat us and now we know for sure. We to make this a final statement, we are requesting a full refund of all monies rendered to your office with the exception of the $90.00 we want our money back all of it.

When the Katrina Catastrophe hit, [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] If you need proof we have it, so please return these funds back immediately so that we won’t have to go another route to get you to return our funds.
