

(cont.)
1

Cammie K. Wilson

Late October 2000, I made my call, to 1-800-INVENTION, after I saw the commercial by TSL, aired, on a local channel out of Chattanooga, TN. An operator took my name and number so a representative could call me back on a later date.

Representative Annett Varga (spelling correction may be needed) called.

Annett asked me if I was familiar with the company. I said no. Then Annett wanted me to describe in detail my ideal as if this was a criteria to proceed.

She left her name and number; if I had any questions I could call.

It was into November now. Annett also said she would send me the information packet which was the first step in the process. After the required ten days and still not receiving my requested information packet I tried calling Annett, only to get her answering machine, in her own voice stating she was on vacation until December 11. (cont. 2 next page)

(Cont.)

2

DOCUMENT REDACTED
Exemption 6, FOIA
5 USC 552(b)(6)

DOCUMENT REDACTED
Exemption 3, FOIA
5 USC 552(b)(3)

December 11, came and went. Still no info. packet or Annett. After talking to a male co-worker of hers, I decide to give her a few more days. Now it was the last week in December 2000, so after not reaching Annett I asked to speak to a Supervisor. National Manager Lori Faskov answered and I told her everything that happened she too wanted to know what my ideal was. Lori took over my case herself. I received my info. packet the first week of Jan. 2001. I stayed in contact with Lori until March. I couldn't come up with the fees and suggested to take my ideal to the [REDACTED] Lori thought that would be a bad ideal. [REDACTED] is my ideal. Then came March 2002. While watching the local news, I see my ideal being recognized by the [REDACTED] Now someone else is claiming my ideal.

- Cammie R. Wilson
[REDACTED]